DISPERSAL ORDER ISSUED TO YOUTHS AT DANGER QUARRY

Police car damaged
as bottles of alcopops
and inflatables seized

Report by Henry James

A POLICE car was damaged after dispersal orders were issued over the weekend when crowds of youths gathered illegally at a dangerous quarry in West Lancashire.

The dispersal notices gave police the power to instruct people to leave the site known as East Quarry in Appley Bridge and also confiscate anything they believe could be used to cause antisocial behaviour.

There have been fatalities at the quarry in the past and police say the youths, who may have travelled there from outside the area, were "putting themselves at serious risk" as well as causing a nuisance for local residents.

Police have released a picture of items including bottles of alcopops and inflatables they found or seized from youths who breached the dispersal notice.

They told parents that "if anyone's teenagers returned home without their belongings" they could collect the items from Ormskirk Police Station with proof of identity if they ask for the on-duty officer and there will be a discussion with your child about the damage caused to the police car."

Police issued several parking tickets over the weekend for people parking their vehicles illegally around the quarry while several individuals were also searched under the misuse of drugs act.

Police said: "Due to the number of people attending the quarry, putting themselves at serious risk and causing anti social behaviour for local residents, a dispersal order was authorised.

Knighthood for actor Pryce who studied teaching at Edge Hill

Report by Henry James

LEADING actor Jonathan Pryce who is well-known for his work on the stage and screen and who studied on a teacher training course at Edge Hill in the late 1960s has been awarded a knighthood for his services to drama and charity in the Queen's Birthday Honours list.

At last year's Oscars, Pryce received a nomination for playing Pope Francis in The Two Popes.

He is set to play Prince Phillip in the final two seasons of The Crown.

Pryce had a successful stage career and his first big film role was in Brazil in 1985, directed by Terry Gilliam. He has also appeared in the James Bond film Tomorrow Never Dies and in Evita.

The 74-year-old was Cardinal Wolsey in the BBC's dramatization of Hilary Mantel's Wolf Hall and was High Sparrow in Game of Thrones.

Following his knighthood, he said: "That the UK continues to honour those that work in the arts, acknowledges the great contribution artists make to the way we live our lives."

"The arts remind people to be kinder, more understanding, questioning and to be more empathetic."

Pryce returned to Edge Hill in 2010 to mark the University's 125 anniversary and told the centre's Alumni publication at the time: "When I was at Edge Hill it was so much smaller, you pretty much knew everybody by name."

"I don't think you could say that now, although it does still have that sense of community and friendliness about it. That's hasn't changed."

"I had a great social life and I remember laughing a lot. I was involved in one of Edge Hill's first ever Rag weeks, which was basically a lot of dressing up. We hardly ever went off campus for a night out. The bar was the centre of college life (another thing that maybe hasn't changed so much!)."

County Hall in Preston

County council chiefs remain bullish on financial position despite Covid disruption

COUNTY council bosses have said the financial position at the authority continues to have a generally "positive outlook" despite the disruption caused by the Covid-19 pandemic.

The 2020/21 revenue position at the end of the financial year was £825.6m, against an approved budget of £844.8m, which represents an underspend of £19.232m or 2.28% of the revenue budget.

The capital programme for 2020/21 outturned at £127.810m out of a total agreed delivery programme budget of £160.420m, primarily as a result of slippage due to the pandemic.

However a package of agreed savings of around £30m had to be delayed due to the necessary focus on the response to the pandemic with those costs covered Covid emergency response funding provided by the Government, with those savings now needing to be delivered in 2021/22 along with another £13m of additional agreed savings, bringing the total level of budgeted savings for 2021/22 to £43m.

Cllr Alan Vincent, deputy leader of the council, said: "This has been an exceptional year due to the pandemic and I am pleased to say the council has managed the financial aspects very well.

"We received a significant number of different grants from the government at various points through the year to support additional activity to help our local communities, which was very welcome. Some of this funding has continued into this financial year.

"There does however remain significant pressure on our budget overall, and prior to the pandemic a savings programme was agreed to ensure we are able to balance our books in the years ahead.

"As we recover from the pandemic, we will continue to monitor the situation very carefully, particularly areas of high demand such as children's and adults social care, to ensure we continue to provide the best value services for the people of Lancashire we can, while protecting the most vulnerable."

We want Brian back, say festival organisers

"Please look out for him and let us know where we can pick him up."

Despite the theft, the festival is still on track and residents can come and join in the fun on Father's Day Weekend, Saturday 19 and Sunday, June 20 from 1pm to 4pm and take part in the Scarecrow Trail.

People can walk the short trail around the village centre to spot the owls hidden among the Scarecrows and find answers to some simple questions and vote for their favourite Scarecrow.

The £4 entry forms can be bought on the day from the stall opposite the War Memorial. Forms can be bought back to the stall to be entered into a draw with a chance to win one of the prizes donated by local businesses including a voucher to spend at the Village Bakery, the Saracens Head or Keli's Deli at Gregory Garage.

People can also 'Name the Scarecrow' for a chance to win a family day pass to Farmer Teds in Haskayne.

All money raised is for the Halsall Proud & Tidy Group.

MP welcomes plan for national audit of metastatic breast cancer

NHS England will fund a national audit of metastatic breast cancer - a decision which has been welcomed by West Lancs MP Rosie Cooper.

The audit will provide the NHS with up-to-date figures on the number of people in England with secondary breast cancer.

Ms Cooper - a Commons Health Select Committee Member - has been pressing for the move, saying that women with metastatic breast cancer are only counted when they die and wanted the government to commit to ensuring the requirement to collect such data is enforced.

She said: "It is great news that NHS England are now funding this audit, but I cannot understand why was this not already being done?"

"Since 2013 there has been a mandatory requirement to collect this data, but it has largely been ignored.

"It is just not acceptable to count only the dead, not the living. I have been working with charities like Breast Cancer Now to draw attention to this issue and felt it was necessary to push the Minister of State for Care on this at Health and Social Care Questions in Parliament.

"Collection of this data is vital, and I am pleased the Minister and Health Service have acted on this glaring omission.

"This audit is a good step forward to support research and the development of treatment for metastatic breast cancer and will hopefully reassure women with secondary breast cancer that they are not being forgotten or ignored."

Office manager who thought she was underpaid by boss, pocketed more than £51,000 from firm

Cash was 'nest egg' for employer's disabled son

By our Court Reporter

AN OFFICE manager for a lettings agency, who felt she was underpaid, secretly pocketed more than £51,000 - money her boss had earmarked for his disabled son.

Cheryl Shackley, a former financial advisor, diverted money paid to the firm into her own accounts over two years before it came to light.

And when arrested the 44-year-old tried to blame the owner making false claims that the money had been moved so he could reduce his tax liability.

Her claims caused the boss, Kevin O'Hare emotional distress and while they were being investigated by police he suffered a life threatening illness and feared he would not live to see her brought to justice.

Liverpool Crown Court heard that the money was part of a nest egg he was building up for his son who has Down's Syndrome to pay for his care when he and his wife were no longer around to care for him.

Jailing the mum-of-three for two and a half years Judge Neil Flewitt, QC, said that 72-year-old Mr O'Hare will either "have to work longer than anticipated or his son will have less financial support than expected and you are responsible for that."

He said he accepted imprisonment would impact on her children, the youngest 17, but he pointed out the thefts involved multiple transactions over a lengthy period.

"You were dissatisfied with what you were being paid and felt you were entitled to more and the way of dealing with that concern was not to raise it with your employer or seek alternative employment but to help yourself to his money to make up that perceived shortfall."

Shackley, of Delph Drive, Burscough, had pleaded guilty, a week before her trial was due, to three theft offences.

Martine Snowdon, prosecuting, said the defendant had been employed by Formby-based Art History Ltd and the offences occurred between May 2016 and April 2018. They involved three different methods.

One involved transferring funds directly from the firm's business account into her own personal ones, which happened on 119 occasions totalling £31,000. She also arranged for rent from five tenants to be paid directly into her bank account, amounting to £19,000 and she used the company bank account to buy goods on line from Next and Shop Direct.

Ms Snowdon explained that Mr O'Hare was working to build a 'nest egg' for his son's lifelong care. In an impact statement he told of his health problems and how he no longer trusts people.

He and his wife had "lived frugal and hard working lives" to provide for their son's life long care.

Jason Smith, defending, said that the money "went on running of the family." But questioned by the judge he admitted that she had gone to New York for three days, lived in a rented home with a swimming pool and had gone on a spa break.

Police impose dispersal order at hazard quarry

"This will be in place each day over the week-end and gives police the power to instruct people to leave the area and also confiscate anything they believe could be used to cause antisocial behaviour. We will be working in conjunction with British Transport Police and Lancashire Fire and Rescue."

The West Lancs Policing Teams had issued another statement earlier in the week warning of the dangers of east quarry: "The risk of drowning in quarry water is much higher than other waters due to the extreme temperature changes, unsafe platforms within the water and even the bacteria within there as well!

"Appley Bridge Quarry is now a working quarry again, meaning there will be increased activity to facilitate pumping the water away ready for construction purposes. It is now even more dangerous to be in the area without a legitimate purpose.

"I urge the public to continue reporting incidents within the area where we will take appropriate action with those involved."

Gill Lea wrote on social media: "The Government has advised restrictions for travelling for Greater Manchester and Lancashire to restrict unnecessary travel. I would assume this could be extended to people from outside these areas coming into our local neighbourhood? (Appley Bridge).

"We have been inundated with teenagers travelling to our area to use the local quarry."

In 2015, 13-year-old Miracle Godson, who was expected to become a future rugby league star, died after getting into difficulty at the Appley Bridge quarry.

Craig Croston, 17, also drowned at the site in 1999.

The government has run a campaign 'Quarry water is a stone cold killer. Stay out, stay alive'. It was developed following an extensive audit of disused quarries by the district councils, which helped identify the highest risk sites and the features within each site which makes them so dangerous.

The government has stated that the risks at quarries, "relate not only to the cold water, but to hazards including submerged machinery which may not be visible from the surface, rubbish and industrial pollution which can cause skin and eye irritations, rashes and infections."

Rogue trader to serve 32 months in prison

Conman took money for work he never finished and tricked people into paying for unnecessary jobs

Report by Henry James

A MAN who scammed people across the county including Aughton, is serving 32 months in jail following action by Lancashire County Council's Trading Standards team.

John Hargadon, aged 54, of Collingwood Street, Colne, pleaded guilty to eight charges at a Crown Court hearing at Ashton Hall, Lancaster.

The rogue trader committed fraud, using scams such as taking money for work he never finished and telling lies to trick residents into having work done that wasn't needed.

Lancashire Trading Standards experts used their enforcement powers to investigate claims against Hargadon and gather evidence for the prosecution.

His crimes affected 15 victims from across the county in Haslingden, Nelson, Clitheroe, Barrow near Whalley, Blackburn, Wilshire, Hoghton, Adlington, Preston, Walmer Bridge and Hutton as well as Aughton. He also scammed residents in West Yorkshire and Cheshire.

County Councillor Peter Buckley, cabinet member for community and cultural services, said: "This rogue trader preyed on vulnerable people, using lies and deceit to con them out of large amounts of money, sometimes running into thousands of pounds.

"This prosecution sends out a clear signal that we won't tolerate rogue traders and scammers and we'll do everything we can to stop them.

"If you're looking for a trader to carry out work on your home, always do your research. Use recommended firms, such as those listed on our Lancashire Safe Trader website."

John Hargadon

One of the victims of this case, who wished to remain anonymous, said: "I feel that the stress he caused affected me mentally, because I feel demoralised and ashamed that I allowed somebody to make me feel this way.

"My confidence has also suffered and I now feel far less confident when it comes to employing any workmen in the future because I feel like I may make the same mistake again."

Dawn Robinson, principal trading standards officer, added: "Our team put in a lot of hard work to investigate this case and we're pleased that justice has been done. Some of John Hargadon's victims live in Cheshire and West Yorkshire and their local trading standards and police forces helped with our investigation.

"Rogue traders can cause mental anguish to their victims and families, some of whom lose vast amounts of their life savings for work that is poorly done or incomplete.

"We're not afraid to use our enforcement powers to prosecute these conmen when we need to."

Skem band release England footy song to 'put smiles on people's faces' ...and raise money for local causes

VOLUNTEERS at the Evermoor Foodbank in Skelmersdale have started a band and recorded an England football song to raise money for charity and to support the national team who started their Euro 2020 campaign with a win against Croatia on Sunday.

Gary Ferguson is one of the people behind the group, which is called Brian & The White Lightning and the idea is to put smiles on people's faces.

The song is called Dance With Bobby Moore and has been co-written by Gary Ferguson and Joseph Kirkbride. The third member is Brian Scaife.

Johnny Tang filmed and edited the video and the Skem Men-Aces, and other volunteers from the Evermoor Hub feature in it.

They aim to collect £10,000 with funds going to Evermoor Foodbank and to help provide Skem Men-Aces disability football team with a new football kit.

Gary said: "I started a musical project with my support workers a few months back. As I volunteer for the local food bank, we decided to release music to raise funds in support of the amazing work they do for our community."

"We have recorded an England football song about hope and 'Keeping the dream alive.'

"Teaming up with the Skem Men-Aces football team, we have created a music video to captivate the spirit of the nation."

"The Skem Men-Aces are arguably the most successful disabled football team in the country, and an absolutely smashing group of lads."

"Our dream is raise enough money as possible to support the fantastic Evermoor Foodbank and help provide Skem Men-Aces with a new football kit."

"Anything residents can kindly donate to this special cause would be greatly appreciated by everybody involved."

"We really hope you enjoy the video, sing along, dance along,

West Lancs constituency remains unchanged in boundary shake-up

WEST Lancashire's parliamentary constituency will remain unchanged under a proposed shake-up by the Boundary Commission of England's electoral map in 2023.

However, the review has put forward proposals to move parts of the borough which currently fall under the South Ribble constituency, into Southport.

The Boundary Commission review aims to make Parliament fairer by giving each MP a roughly similar number of voters.

Under the latest plans, which were revealed on June 8, the North West will lose two seats and there will be changes in Merseyside with Ainsdale set to move from Southport to the Sefton Central constituency while Southport, currently Merseyside's only Conservative seat, will extend north to parts of South Ribble.

The areas of North Meols, Hesketh-Beconsall, Tarleton and Rufford which are all within West Lancashire Borough Council's boundaries will be moved from the South Ribble into the Southport constituency.

The Liverpool Walton constituency will be axed altogether and the Everton and Anfield wards respectively will become part of the Liverpool

Riverside city centre constituency while a new north Liverpool constituency - Norris Green - will be created.

That new constituency will take in Aintree and Melling from the current Sefton Central constituency and extend east to take a couple of wards from Knowsley.

Responding to the review, West Lancashire MP Rosie Cooper said: "I am delighted that the West Lancashire

The existing boundaries (blue) and proposed (red) constituency remains unchanged.

"Population numbers were always at or near the threshold, so I'm not surprised at this decision."

"More interesting is the inclusion of some West Lancashire Borough Council wards previously in South Ribble being moved to Southport, which I hope will help the argument that Southport should be part of a unitary authority that includes West Lancashire and not Preston."

Objections to home plan next to War Memorial

By Henry James

PLANS to build a house at land adjacent to Up Holland War Memorial has met with opposition from residents.

They claim the development will lead to parking needs, which will mean a large section of hedgerow will have to be cut down. Residents added they believed significant parts of trees in the area would also have to be lopped.

However AZH Consultancy who are acting as agent for the applicant responded they were not aware of any 'large section' of hedgerow abutting the war monument which will need to be removed.

Resident Kevin O'Connor claimed: "The plans ask for parking that will necessitate cutting down a large section of the hedgerow behind the monument as well as excavation for footings through the roots of the beautiful birch trees planted almost a hundred years ago at the back of the monument."

"Trees will need to be lopped off significantly, which will reduce any nesting opportunities for bird life, insect life, toads and hedgehogs."

"The parking will mean that cars will need to reverse onto the very busy A577 when they need to get out of the driveway."

"Locals initially raised £22,000 to buy the land and put it in trust forever, but were outbid by the Bolton-based developers. A WhatsApp group was created to collate objections. Also, the group is ensuring locals are 'aware of this threat to the memory of our fallen' by posting notifications through letterboxes."

"There are only three pieces of grassed area between the Plough and Harrow pub and the Abbey lakes directly along the A577 Upholland Road: one is the Hall Bridge Gardens entrance, one is the green attached to the monument and one is the monument itself."

"Why does every piece of grass have to have a house on it? We think this must be stopped forever."

A spokesman for AZH Consultancy responded: "I can confirm a comprehensive tree survey report was prepared which has been submitted in support of the planning application. That survey identified the trees and areas of land that should be protected in order to ensure there is no detriment to the trees which are an asset to the setting within which the monument sits."

"I am not aware of any 'large section' of hedgerow abutting the war monument which will need to be removed. There is a low boundary treatment proposed, but this does not necessarily require removal of hedgerow.

"Once your reader's objection has been submitted to the planning authority and we have a copy, we will consider the objection in detail with input from the planning authority in order to ensure where legitimate concerns are raised they are addressed."

"I believe the proposed house will be further away from the monument than existing properties on Grove Road."

"The potential impact of the proposed house on the setting of the monument can be gauged by comparing with these existing properties."

"The highway authority will assess the safety aspects of the access proposed and ensure it does not create any danger. The proposed access was designed by an experienced engineer."

Brian Kennedy at the opening of the new infant playground

Infant playground is officially opened

Interview by Henry James

BURSCOUGH Village Primary School welcomed the chairman of the Town Council, Brian Kennedy and members of the council to officially open the new infant playground on Tuesday, June 8.

In the summer of 2020, the school was successful in securing a Community Infrastructure funding grant from the council of £8,000, which was put towards the cost of the new playground area for all ages to enjoy.

With the help of The Year 2 class the school worked with a local company Eden Play to design and install a new playground area.

During the opening, Mr Kennedy confirmed the town council supported six different local projects totalling a little less than £50,000.

He went on to say: “We were delighted to be able to support the new playground project which will support the current and future children of the school and the wider community.”

Miss Smith, headteacher, commented: “It is important that we listened to what the children of our school wanted from their new playground and, therefore, we asked the Year 2 class to be heavily involved in the design to ensure that it was right.

“We are thrilled with the end result and the children love the tree house and I have already seen several puppet shows performed on the stage!

“A huge thank you goes to Burscough Town Council for the funding, without this the school would not have been able to fund the project.”

Memorial garden to be created in country park for all those who have been affected by Covid-19

Schoolchildren to design memorial which will be 'a place to reflect in solitude about loved ones people have lost'

Report by Henry James

A COMMEMORATIVE garden is to be created within Beacon Country Park for all residents and their families who have been affected by Covid-19.

The garden will be created by West Lancashire Council as a place to reflect in solitude about loved ones people have lost, as well as a place to remember the amazing work carried out by communities during the pandemic.

It will also feature glass artworks created by local schoolchildren.

Councillor Ian Moran, leader of West Lancashire Borough Council, said: "Having a place where we can acknowledge and reflect on the profound way the pandemic has affected our lives was incredibly important to me personally and I'm delighted to see the plans come to fruition in such a thoughtful and positive way.

"The garden is a fitting tribute to the way our communities have shown such generosity of spirit and resilience in such uncertain times.

"The children's designs are wonderful and I can't wait to

A design, by schoolchildren, for how the garden could look

Part of the community garden will feature four beautiful glass panels.

The council recently asked local schools for artwork to be created around the theme of 'positive things to come out of lockdown.'

Five schools sent in art submissions and from these they selected 20 children to attend a workshop with a local artist where they were given circle templates to create their line drawings.

The artist has taken the children's artwork and developed them into designs for the glass.

The council has 16 designs for people to look at and they want residents to tell them which ones they would like to see as part of the garden.

The top four designs will be embedded in wood and will be on display in the garden, allowing the sunlight to shine through as we look forward to a brighter future.

People can vote for their favourite designs at: <https://westlancs.citizenspace.com/engagement/com-memoration-project> or by following the homepage link on the council's website at www.westlancs.gov.uk

The council would also like people to vote for their favourite name for the garden from a shortlist that also forms part of the consultation. The consultation closes on June 20.

Police officer in court accused of having sexual relationship with alleged attack victim

A POLICE officer from Parbold has appeared in court accused of having a sexual relationship with an alleged victim of an attack.

PC Simon Rose denied having a 'personal and sexual relationship' with a woman who had made a complaint of an assault to police.

The 47-year-old officer is also accused of trying to dissuade colleagues at Greater Manchester Police from carrying out a search of a property.

Rose, of Burnside, pleaded not guilty to misconduct in a public office and also perverting the course of justice, when he appeared at Liverpool Crown Court on Tuesday, June 8.

It is alleged that between 2012 and 2019, while working as a police officer, he wilfully misconducted himself by 'conducting a personal and sexual relationship' with a woman 'who had made a complaint' of assault to Greater Manchester Police and by failing to notify the same force of that relationship.

The second charge alleges that in October 2019 he attempted to pervert the course of justice by seeking to dissuade his colleagues from conducting a lawful and proper search at a property in Greater Manchester.

Judge David Aubrey QC fixed his trial, expected to last about seven days, to begin on January 10 next year and remanded Rose, a serving officer, on unconditional bail until that date.

Lancashire's bid for City of Culture 2025 needs residents' help!

ORGANISERS of Lancashire's bid to become the UK's City of Culture 2025 are raring to go after the competition was officially opened by the government.

On May 29, Culture Secretary Oliver Dowden launched the search for UK City of Culture 2025 and, for the first time, the competition will welcome bids from groups of towns joining together to win the bid for an area.

Lancashire will bid for the title of City of Culture 2025, the first time a county has re-imagined itself as a 'virtual city' with a mission to produce an ambitious, inclusive cultural programme that will be woven together to integrate the urban, the coast and the countryside.

The citizens of Lancashire are at the heart of the bid and as part of the bid process, Lancashire 2025 is now recruiting a Citizen's Advisory Panel; a unique opportunity for people from all walks of life to help shape and influence the county's submission, reflecting the many points of view and rich diversity of citizens in the county.

Individuals that represent cultural links, business, technology, education, skills, rural groups, grassroots, volunteer coordination, charity groups and bodies focusing on inclusion and representation are being asked to apply to join the Lancashire 2025 Citizen's Advisory Panel.

Loz Kaye, Citizen Engagement manager for Lancashire 2025 said: "Lancashire's strength is its amazingly creative people who will be at the heart of our bid for UK City of Culture bid and it is vital that we hear the county's voices in what we do."

"We are looking for people who are passionate about a positive future for Lancashire, and the role played by culture, arts, nature and digital technology."

"People who are committed to improving Lancashire and have strong links to their communities, whether that's in a small rural village or in a busy urban centre. This bid aims to link all kinds of communities through culture, creativity and participation.

Loz Kaye, Citizen Engagement manager for Lancashire 2025

"The Citizens' Advisory Panel is a great chance to be part of something really ambitious. Something that will bring investment and the cultural future our county deserves."

Delivered by the Department for Digital, Culture, Media and Sport (DCMS) in collaboration with the devolved administrations, the UK City of Culture competition 2025 will use culture as a catalyst for levelling up areas outside London and put culture at the heart of their plans to recover from the impact of the pandemic.

Those interested in joining the Citizen's Advisory Panel should contact Citizen Engagement manager Loz Kaye at loz@lancashire2025.com for more information and an application form.

The recruitment will close on Sunday, July 4.

Aerospace engineer is flying high after being crowned Miss Lancashire!

Report by Henry James

AN engineering student from Skelmersdale has been crowned Miss Lancashire.

Jess Gagen will now be representing the county at the Miss England contest on Saturday, June 24 when the entry to Miss World will be chosen.

The 25-year-old, who was scouted for the Miss Lancashire contest in January, said: "I was apprehensive having never taken part in anything similar before, but after 40 days of running 5kms on the bounce in fancy dress and raising more than £1,200 for charity, I've ended up winning it and now I'm in line for the Miss England crown."

Jess went to St James' Primary in Ashurst and then onto Our Lady Queen of Peace Engineering College in Skelmersdale where she gained 9A/A*'s at GCSE.

While studying she signed to her first modelling agency, and took it full time after she finished her A Levels at Winstanley College.

She added: "I signed contracts for agencies in different countries and worked across the UK, Europe and Middle East for brands including Grazia Magazine, MaxMara, M&S, Tesco, Regatta, ASDA, boohoo.com and Soap and Glory!"

"For years I was unsure about my future and believed I'd written off my access to an engineering degree through picking the wrong A Levels aged 16, but this turned out not to be the case at all."

"At 22 I called up lots of different universities, and ended up taking a foundation year in physics, alongside balancing my modelling."

Jess now models part time while studying for a Masters Degree in Aerospace Engineering at the University of Liverpool.

She added: "My path hasn't been the usual one by any means but taking life at my own pace has allowed me to shoot some incredible campaigns and travel the world in my downtime.

"I want to prove to teens that acquiring knowledge is so much more rewarding than conforming to Instagram beauty standards, so I'm campaigning for it."

"My campaign in regards to the contest focused on showing girls the opportunities available to them in STEM (science, technology, engineering, and mathematics) careers, something I'm extremely passionate about, and I'm determined to prove to teens that they can do both!"

Cycle lanes on the edge of roads are less than useless

I refer to your article Cycle Lane Roadworks Causing Traffic Chaos For Fed Up Motorists.

I am a personal trainer and I am also a very keen cyclist.

I can tell you here and now that cycle lanes on the edges of roads are less than useless.

The only time I advocate cycle lanes is if there is a significant physical partition between the road and the cycle lane.

Even then they are of limited value.

The safest thing for a cyclist to do is to cycle no less than one metre from the kerb.

Although it really annoys car drivers I have been known to cycle half way between the pavement and the central dividing line.

It is much safer.

Let me explain why.

If you cycle on the edge then it can be very difficult for a car driver to see you and so they can drive past you at speed and the wind effect can knock you over.

There tends to be glass and potholes at the edges of roads which can be very dangerous for a cyclist.

If you are on the edge of a road and you go past a T-junction and a car pulls out you've had it.

Lastly if you cycle on the edge of a road and a car driver opens a door for whatever reason you've had it.

S Varma,
Ormskirk

I've never felt so vulnerable as in the last few months

I have really tried to see the debate about GP services from both sides.

I read the letters from Dr Clarkson and Local Patient as well as the previous week's letter from Mr Burns.

My comments come from personal experience.

I am extremely grateful for the efficient way the vaccination programme has worked for me and my husband but I am a total loss as to where my GP(s) have been this past 15 months.

I have occasional ongoing health needs that can affect my mobility yet I cannot get to see my GP.

Yes I have been through triage but only after 103 and 84 phone attempts on different days to get through to my practice.

Yes I have had prescriptions issued to me, but have not been able to see a doctor, nor have I been able to secure a referral to a consultant (until in desperation I paid for a private appointment that I got in three days).

I have travelled to a walk-in-centre to be kept waiting for four hours in the car-park to be triaged because apparently you need an appointment in an emergency or desperate situation?

I need physiotherapy but can only have a 'virtual appointment' (five weeks wait) through NHS - but guess what - I can have face to face within a couple of days if I can pay privately for it.

I have been disabled for 49 years, most of the time I cope fine and take care of minor issues myself, but I have always felt secure knowing that the help was there if or when I needed to ask for it.

However I have never felt so alone and vulnerable as I have these past months.

So I am sympathetic to Mr Burns and the local resident because their experience has also been mine.

I have no doubt not every GP practice is the same - at least I hope not because I am changing GP totally as a result of what I have outlined above.

Drain covers are a hazard for cyclists

I endorse fully D Symons letter concerning drain covers (Designing better drain covers to reduce road surface damage could be a college project.)

It is bad enough in a car, but as an avid pedals or powered two wheel user, many drain covers are an accident waiting to happen, particularly as they can and do throw me off the saddle if I hit one.

On the other hand, I become a road menace when I have to weave down a road to avoid them as if it were a slalom course.

I have contacted Lancashire

County Council about this, and a few other road orientated issues, but they fail to reply or act.

We all want safer roads with less damage to our vehicles, but they seem not to care.

M Pagett,
Ormskirk

Surgery staff have been unsung heroes of pandemic

I would like to say the hugest of thanks to Hall Green Surgery in Up Holland.

The staff have always been unsung heroes and ever so much the more since the pandemic began.

They have always shown compassion, care and dedication to our family and those we know.

Throughout the pandemic no doubt they must have and continue to struggle with staff having to self isolate, ever changing Covid advice and restrictions, and unprecedented demand.

And yet every time I phone or visit the surgery, they have shown nothing but kindness, patience and determination to provide the best care possible in very difficult circumstances.

We are so blessed in this country to have an NHS with free care at point of delivery.

I have relatives in other countries for which this is not the case.

I have worked as a frontline health care professional and both with that experience and knowledge, and as a parent and patient on a personal level, I wish to raise awareness of this amazing group of individuals who have and continue to care for myself and my family with such high levels of professionalism as well as empathy.

we did not know what the future would hold!
I have been through so much with losing

What's your fastest speed?

WHAT'S the fastest you've ever driven? 90mph? 100mph? Maybe a little more? My own highest speed is 136mph, served up in the safe surroundings of a private test track where all 542bhp of a Jaguar XKR-S could really be let loose, but that's a modern car with ABS, traction control and all sorts of other electronic armoury to help you should something go wrong.

Imagine what it'd be like going even faster in a Sunbeam racing car with no seatbelts, no roll cage and 1920s brakes and suspension - on Ainsdale Beach!

That's the phenomenal achievement of Sir Henry Segrave, who in March 1926 managed to wrestle a single-seater Sunbeam to 152.3mph. On sand. It's one of those drives that I always thought deserved more recognition, and until recently it was largely consigned to the history books and the name of the resort's branch of JD Wetherspoon.

Champion readers with longer memories will recall that back in 2016 the Sunbeam Tiger - the original racer and land speed record car, not an Alpine with a heart transplant - was successfully reunited with the seafront, where it finally got to roar down the beach again. It was the headline gig at a week of motoring-themed events called the Southport Festival of Speed, which included parades of classic cars, a talk by Gina Campbell, daughter of land and water speed record holder Donald, at The Atkinson, and a concours (judged by, erm, me). It was a wonderful celebration of the region's motoring heritage which posed one big question - when were Aintree Circuit Club, the people behind Ormskirk's MotorFest, going to do it again?

Well, I'm delighted to say the answer is Sunday, October 10.

The aim of the new Classic and Speed event isn't to re-run the Tiger's anniversary outing - although the club is hoping to bring it back to the North West - but a celebration of the Southport Speed Trials, which took place along Lord Street and the Promenade in the early 1900s. I'm not for a moment suggesting there are going to veteran racing cars dicing at high speeds just in front of the Royal Clifton, but what there will be is a classic car parade through the town centre, which for me was one of the real highlights of the 2016 event. There'll be plenty of car displays at Victoria Park, too, including what Aintree Circuit Club are billing as a themed display of veteran, vintage, classic and modern cars as its centrepiece.

Our motors correspondent with the Sunbeam Tiger racer on its last visit to Southport back in 2016

It's a welcome dose of normality at a time when car shows are only just getting back into their stride - and plenty of the bigger ones have had to either revamp their formats or skip a second year because of ongoing uncertainty over lockdown.

Fingers crossed that the weather cooperates, too, because this is an event that deserves to succeed. Having said that, vintage car demonstrations are always that little bit entertaining in the wet...

David Simister is the editor of Classic Car Weekly

... 'Southport Classic and Speed' event will show range of veteran, vintage, classic and modern cars

Organisers reveal more about show our motors man wants to attend...

SOUTHPORT'S record-breaking motor sporting heritage will be celebrated with a free event on the town's Victoria Park on Sunday, October 10.

The organisers say that the centrepiece of 'Southport Classic and Speed' will be a 'fabulous, themed display of veteran, vintage, classic and modern cars from all periods, followed by a grand parade along Lord Street and the promenade, the location of the original 1903 Speed Trial course.'

Added attractions will include both marque and car club displays, local crafts, food and drink stalls as well as a shopping village.

Meanwhile, the 1903 speed trials marked the first time ever that a British woman had taken part in a speed event. This lady was the intrepid 21-year-old Dorothy Levitt who became known as 'the Fastest Lady on Earth.'

An example of the car she drove that day, a Gladiator, will be one of the star cars at 'Classic and Speed.'

Southport's significant motor sporting heritage began with the 1903 speed trials, one of the first competitive motor events anywhere in the world, pre-dating the famous Brooklands track which opened in 1907.

Sir Henry Segrave, driving his Sunbeam Tiger, established the world land speed record at 152mph on Ainsdale Beach, Southport, in 1926.

Our motors man David Simister is shown, above, with the Sunbeam Tiger racer on its last visit to Southport in 2016.

'Classic and Speed' will mark the 95th anniversary and the 125th anniversary of Segrave's birth.

Sand racing took place on the beaches throughout the 1920s and 1930s and again in the 1960s, 70s and 80s.

The event is hosted by Aintree Circuit Club, supported by Sefton Council, Southport BID and Victoria Park Events with sponsorship from Cataclean and Porsche Centre Preston.

Classic cars and motorcycles of all periods are invited to take part.

Entry, including the grand parade, is £15. More information is available online only via the event website, where further announcements will be made in the coming weeks, at www.southportclassicandspeed.com
